Explore the fascinating electronic world in the Royal New Zealand Navy

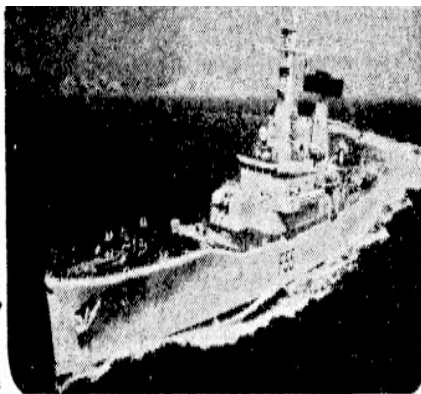

Discover the wonders of electronics in a new, exciting and well-paid career while you voyage to such fabulous places as Hong Kong and Hawaii, Singapore and Sydney, Malaysia, Borneo, the Antarctic. These opportunities are open to prepared to learn the sophisticated skills required to maintain the ultra-modern ships and equipment of the Royal New Zealand Navy. The Navy employs equipment in advance of anything comparable in civilian life and offers unmatched training in computer and electronic engineering which guarantees you a first class career both in and out of the Navy. Other skilled careers open to you in the Navy are Marine Engineering, Communications, Accounting, Medical, Store-keeping, Cooking and Stewarding — all valuable training when you return to civilian life.

Young men 16 to 18

Engagement is for eight years, with opportunity for re-engagement. There's a scheme in all branches for promotion to officer rank. Free uniform, free medical and dental care, full accommodation, good pay and allowances with end of service grants. Inquire now, without obligation, for full details of pay, promotion and conditions of service in any Branch.
